

Congratulations to Dr. Avent and Grenada Hospital on their 30th Anniversary

Tribute To Dr. J. K. Avent, Sr. by Rev. & Mrs. A. L. O'Brian

In 1922 a young physician and his bride, fresh from the School of Medicine at Tulane U. and internship at Charity Hospital in New Orleans, were driving thru Grenada to their home in Oxford.

Being impressed with the beauty of the little town and the apparent opportunity which was visualized at once, this young girl turned to her husband, Dr. James K. Avent and said, "I believe we would be happy and do well to locate in this town of wonderful people and cast our lot with them."

After practicing nine months in his home town of Oxford with Dr. Eugene Bramlett he began looking around for a place to establish a hospital, there being two hospitals already in Oxford.

Dr. F. S. Hill extended an invitation for him to come to Grenada and enter into a partnership with him. This gave him the opportunity of opening a hospital in a town where there was a great need for one.

Time has proved their decision was one of wisdom, as this was a strategic point for dedication of service to welfare of mankind not only in the city itself but to the entire surrounding community.

Much of preparation for the life and work of a surgeon has been made by Dr. Avent from early youth continuing at various periods of study until the present date. It is only just to say that this realization of a goal set in his early years is the product of the ambition of himself and a widowed mother - and reminds one of a prophecy made by the prophet Joel and recalled at Pentecost by Peter: "your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams."

This vision materialized and today Dr. Avent is sole owner and operator of the Grenada Hospital. A competent group of physicians form its staff and monthly meetings are held for discussion of medical problems. These associates are Drs. S. B. Caruthers, A. T. Nadeau, R. A. Clanton, F. S. Hill, R. J. Criss, S. W. James, W. E. Brown, Gaines Cooke, Hal Rogers, W. B. Hunt, and J. K. Avent, Jr.

Dr. A. L. O'Brian is Chaplain and ministers to the spiritual needs of all patients regardless of race or religious beliefs.

Dr. Avent is recognized by highest authorities as one of the leading surgeons of the South. He holds membership in numerous medical groups and has been honored in his state by appointments to various posts one of which was as President of State Medical Association of Mississippi.

Uncle Rob Hall got a good write-up in Outdoor Life, written by a fellow-fisherman, Bob Price.

In Hot Springs I read that the Memphis USO three refused to permit, sweater girls to attend the USO dances and other functions. While I do not know, I suspect that some flat chested lady made that ruling.

Last week, the Trust Bank observed its 50th anniversary. The its modest president, Henry Ray, Sr. wanted nothing but a paid ad in the paper. I had I been here, could hardly have restrained myself from saying complimentary things in print about the bank and about its conservative president and manager, Mr. Ray. This bank told me, papa and many others thru the great depression and so far as I know, never foreclosed anybody or lost a nickel - or skipped a dividend period. A remarkable record.

The very latest fellow on the block is O. R. Gunter, who looks after many of the multifarious highway problems in this area. He is mighty proud that, at long last, he is carving out the order to make a straight, light protected crossing on 8 and 51 south of Grenada, and I am too. However, the GCW went now

HISTORY OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN STATE

Discussed By Chancellor With Ole Miss Alumni

Dr. J. D. Williams, chancellor of the University of Mississippi, discussed the history and purposes of higher education in Mississippi on Thursday night at a meeting of Ole Miss alumni and friends in the Municipal Building.

Other distinguished guests were Mrs. J. D. Williams of Ole Miss, William S. Griffin, alumni secretary and Mrs. Griffin, John Reid Holly, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Poole, Claude "Tadpole" Smith, director of athletics and Mrs. Smith, and Ed Johnson, former city manager of Grenada and Mrs. Johnson.

Other honored guests were high school seniors. Attorney William F. Winter of Grenada was toastmaster and introduced the guests.

About 150 were present to hear the speech, eat steak suppers and see a color movie of the Sugar Bowl game between Ole Miss and Ga. Tech.

Chancellor Williams commended Mr. Winter and Mr. Jack Dyre, Ole Miss alumni president in this county and said that the spirit of cooperation between the alumni of Ole Miss and the University was remarkable.

He said that the primary purpose of the University was education and the football coaching staff felt the same way. He commended the coaching staff saying they were church going men of good character.

The University began in 1848 at a time when Mississippi was one of the two or three wealthiest states in the Union. The first building erected was the Lyceum in 1848 and the second was the engineering building which was erected in 1854.

Dr. Williams said that the Chancellor in those early days was Dr. Barnard, one of the world's finest authorities on astronomy. He had built what he thought was the most powerful and best ground telescope in the world, but found out later there was a more powerful one in a German university.

Dr. Barnard contracted with the same telescope company to have the best one in the world made. This telescope was shipped via Boston and landed there in 1861 as the Civil War broke out it was never delivered to Ole Miss and is still at Northwestern U. in Chicago.

Dr. Barnard was a Unionist and insisted on going to the North when the Civil War broke out in spite of a personal plea to remain made by Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy. Dr. Barnard became president of Columbia U. and later established Barnard College.

Chancellor Williams related of the establishing of State College, Mississippi Southern and Delta State College and of the 14 junior colleges. He pointed out the duplication in the various public supported institutions of higher learning.

D. S. T. C. and Miss. Southern duplicate each other in that both are teacher training institutes and the 14 junior colleges and State College all teach agriculture.

He told of the movement underway to co-ordinate the work of the many public schools in Mississippi.

The continuance of the education of professional people of Mississippi is another function of the University which Dr. Williams discussed. There are schools to upgrade those in the professions of law, medicine, insurance, pharmacy, and banking. He told also of the University's function in making surveys for the Legislature and for the cities of Mississippi. He pointed out that the University was the logical one to solve Mississippi's problems as the University was primarily interested (Con't to page 4)

Additional Notes About Hot Springs

Mabel and I spent 6 days and nights at the Maletic Hotel in Hot Springs, checking in on Sunday the 19th and checking out Saturday the 25th. took the baths and massages, had a good restful time, met a lot of people and saw a heap of things.

Hot Springs, like all resort towns, has a place for everyone, whether a 'big shot' who wants to splurge around and spend a lotta money, or the 'po' devil' who needs the baths vet has limited funds and must get by cheap. The baths must be worthwhile, otherwise Hot Springs would not be nationally known and would not attract so many folks from so many sections of the country for so many years. I have been there several times and can truthfully say that personally I have felt no effect, good or bad, from the baths. Mabel has been there many times and ALWAYS gets good effects from baths and massages, in fact, I think these treatments keeps her young.

One nice fellow we met was Matthea's brother-in-law, a young fellow Stuckey of Lepanto, Ark.

I read in the Arkansas paper that the State of Indiana had exiled (like the Czars used to exile folks to Siberia) a young, pregnant woman, seeking Indiana relief, back to Arkansas.

I saw a horde of Arkansas band kids, some of whom were in our hotel, raising hell and making themselves obnoxious to guests. Many of them were juvenile ruffians. Like those who busted out both our plate glass windows. Kids just don't get the home training these days. Like old man Wallace Trussell used to give his with a leather strap.

Most of the folks we met were gredupelicans, but some of them were native-born folks from no mislisl like Barry K. Pope of Coahoma County, or like that silver-haired doctor from Ruleville. Two border-line individuals were Messrs. D. C. Coddell and J. C. Harrell of Goldboro, N. C. two of these middle-aged yet respectable men on the loose from hon'. They think of course that Goldboro is out an ante-room to Heaven itself.

One fellow I took a liking to was "Pop" who operates Smiley's Bar on upper Central Avenue. I would leave the Hotel which sells beer walk by several other places which sell the same kinds of beer to get my beer with "Pop" and "Mom". I noticed a bell captain from the

G. H. S. GLEE CLUB'S CONCERT IS FRIDAY

Numbers Range From Bach To Hammerstein

The Grenada High School Glee Club will be presented in concert Friday night, May 1 at 8 o'clock in the elementary school auditorium.

The program will consist of numbers ranging from Bach chorales to Reders-Hammerstein. "It's a Grand Night For Singing."

The Girls Ensemble is composed of Lennie Sharp, Ricka, Ann Whitten, Eva Smith, Barbara Vance, Percy Evans, Fredia Juchheim, Mary Virginia Sennett, and Lois Miles.

The Boys Quartet is composed of Ricky, Jones, Bill Felts, John Smith and Clayton Bailey.

Other selections will be sung by the Girls Sextette composed of Judy Lake, Betty Joe Mitchell, Helen Kimbrough, Camille Sulton, Mammie Willingham, and Margaret Mitchell.

The public is cordially invited to attend. There will be an admission fee of 25c and 50c and the proceeds will go to the beginning of a piano fund for the school.

Brother Biskv and wife have been visiting back "home" in Clarksville, Tenn. recently.

Arlington who came by to get his beer, just like I do, to meet some friendly folks like Pop and Mom. Pop specializes in guessing ages and weights of his customers. However, when he guessed mine, he was a helluva way off. So I am going to have to send Pop my birth certificate, but he will say I had it faked. Pop and Mom seem to run a family affair as Mabel and I do the GCW, and don't want to get a per.

In that old neighborhood, where little changes have taken place in the old days when everyone has seen. He runs that shooting gallery where the mountain itself is the target. His name is C. O. Edwards, 75 years of age, and has scored the range 43 years.

Nearly in All States News, headed by Ray Jackson, where one can get his own hometown paper almost any day. It takes a lot of doing to get those papers there from so many places.

We also met some ad republicans. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carrell and the son who runs the Daily Gate City in Keokuk, Iowa, yet in spite of their politics were mighty nice people. I think he said he had to have 50 folks looking loomingly at his face every saturday night, and while we are mighty little, I don't envy him a bit.

I also met a little fellow from here and some from there. Paul Smith, Milwaukee Wisconsin, I think the fellow was a member with these gentlemen there. We saw one of those school children and while I would not envy it, I think Paul would slip him a shot of brandy or stuff, occasionally. Home Fries are not bad this.

We had a little talk about the Battle and of course had no fore knowledge of what it would be. I feel that I was very reasonably well and even though I am a stranger and have been quoted I am acquainted with these people. B. A. Shaw, who like all of Schavers' folks I met, was extremely courteous and helpful.

Many folks think of Hot Springs as a gambling and drinking center. Most folks seek restoration of health for liquor. It is plentiful and cheap. The same liquor costs the same amount in ANY store in the state. Liquor served by the drink is illegal but that seems to be done in "spots", whose members are all able. One seems to be able to get a membership card (free) from almost any "club". Open gambling, as we know there is not there any more, tho these "clubs" some, like the Athletic Club across from the Arlington, are very ornate, provide opportunities for folks to gamble. Now, I did not shoot a single po' dice, or drink anything but a few beers, and that's the truth. Everything is there - it's just a little harder for a stranger to find. Taxicab fellows know everything. I was talking to one in front of the Athletic Club and, until he read my card, he was very free in talking but he sort of closed up when he saw who I was. I don't think they like publicity.

I followed Mabel's advice in seeing "Call Me Madame" and want to give it a good word. It will be here shortly. See it.

We returned as we went over, by Greenville and Pine Bluff. I clocked the distance and it is 273 miles that way, and to us, that route is preferable to the 330-mile trip via Memphis. Following out noses, we found a nice cafeteria near the court house in Pine Bluff and ate going and coming there at noon.

Let's I forget to do so, let me say that we were dinner guests one night of Elliott and Bess Lawrence at the Arlington Hotel.

Hot Springs is a grand place to visit and one can "write his own ticket" about the cost thereof.

A Minister

Lesson for May 3, 1953

GOING up in a canal-boat to the interior of China or somewhere, stopping now and then to preach a sermon and distribute some Testaments and then shoving along to the next stop—this is some people's idea of foreign missions, but it won't do. It isn't the way the best work has been done. And it most certainly is not the New Testament way of spreading the Gospel. St. Paul, for instance, traveled many a mile, and he is known for his "missionary journeys." But an examination of the New Testament story shows that his journeys were mostly stops, some of them right long ones. Paul believed not only in preaching the Good News but in establishing churches. He stayed in Corinth a year and a half, and in Ephesus two whole years. He left going congregations behind him at both places, and he kept up with them for years.

Dr. Foreman a year and a half, and in Ephesus two whole years. He left going congregations behind him at both places, and he kept up with them for years.

Minister

All sorts of names are given to ministers. Some call them "Reverend," a title hanging over from the Middle Ages and one that most ministers, to tell the truth, would just as soon not have. Some call them "Preacher," and they do preach; but few ministers preach for more than two or three hours out of the 168 hours in the week. A bigger word and a better word is just "Minister." This is a word St. Paul used about himself, and it was not original with him. Our Lord used it of himself. Our English language rather conceals the fact that the word means "One who serves," for in the Greek that Paul used, the word "serve" and the word "minister" are almost the same. Minister does not mean "servant" in the cap-and-apron, hired-man sense of the word. It does mean one who is of service. There is one country minister in North Carolina, much loved by his people, who not only preaches and cares for the souls of his people but who has shown them how to raise strawberries better than were ever grown in those parts before. He spells Service in letters that spread over all of life.

Teacher

If all you get out of church is a "good feeling," you don't get what was intended, or else your minister isn't quite up to his job. The minister who takes St. Paul for his model will be a teacher and not simply a preacher. We know that Paul at Ephesus taught in the lecture-hall of Tyrannus every week-day, perhaps Sundays too. The good minister's sermons will be a kind of education; but he does not stop there. The minister can't teach all the classes in Sunday School but he can see to it that the Sunday school selects good teachers. He can oversee the whole business of religious education in his church, check on what is being done, help to plan with the teachers and other workers, see that the teachers have a chance to attend training classes, help build up the Sunday school library . . . there is hardly any end to what the minister can do as a teacher, if he has half a mind in that direction. Above all, the minister is the Bible teacher.

Pastor

When all is said and done, however, there is no finer word than Pastor, and no higher work than what he does. There simply is not anywhere any institution except the Christian church that has anything like the place and work of the pastor. An old-fashioned name for this is the "cure of souls" and that never meant just the cure of sick souls, but also the care of souls to keep them from being sick. Paul, when he was reviewing his work in the church at Ephesus, could have mentioned some of the startling and sensational events which Luke mentions in chapter 19. Instead, Paul describes his own day-to-day, door-to-door work as pastor of his people. To put it as simply as possible, the pastor brings God into the lives of his people, and brings his people to God. While the minister may have a salary, as in most churches he does, he can never be paid for what he does as pastor. How can we pay a man in money for comfort and warning and faith and strength, that we would not have known without his help?

SPORTSMAN COLUMN

(By C. C. Hamby, Sr.)

I'm what old Whyte Whitaker calls a pee-wee writer; what I write doesn't amount to much. As far as I know no one reads what I write. As far as I know I haven't accomplished a thing; I've old had two people to say a word of appreciation or thanks (I tell me I was right on a single subject, but this pee-wee writer knows a good writer or one that does write a good article, and I want to take this opportunity to congratulate Robert E. Price on the article he wrote on one of our friend fishermen, sportsman and who Price calls "Peephole" R. E. (Bob) Hall. A truer story has never been written. We, the people of Grenada and Mississippi should be honored and proud and we all should congratulate both of these men. If you haven't read in the May issue of Outdoor Life magazine on page 34, get one and read this article and you will know what I am talking about. The writer, R. E. Price lives here in Grenada and R. E. (Peephole) Hall has lived here all of his life and to get an article of this kind, by two Grenada citizens I think it quite an honor, especially in a National magazine like Outdoor Life.

All kinds of fishing has been very poor the past week. Only a few fish have been caught. Catfish are still being caught by set hooks and trot lines, using large gold fish for bait.

All lakes in this vicinity were getting in fine shape until the last downpour and sudden change of the weather, cool and cold. Few blue gill, zoogle eye and bass were beginning to wake up and strike but they have been set back again for a few days.

Sardis is still the hottest spot for crappie and bass and old dyed-in-the-wool fishermen are catching fish. Sam Irby and I caught around 37 last Thursday, fishing in Hamby and Cherry Tree Hollow, fishing about 6 to 8 inches deep in shallow water. A few fish were caught over the weekend by the same old dyed in the wool fishermen. A few days of pretty, warm sunshiny weather and you will be able to catch those nice slab crappie. A few more days of this fine weather and those blue gills will begin to take those small crawfish and roaches as fast as you throw them out. By this weekend I thing all our lakes will be just right. I will pass on to you all the latest dope on all lakes if you will come by the Shell Service Station of phone no. 58.

Always Guarding Your Telephone

DAY IN AND DAY OUT, telephone employees are inspecting and testing equipment and looking for conditions that may cause trouble with your telephone. That's one reason telephones are so seldom reported "out of order" nowadays—only once every two years, on the average. Then alert repairmen have them back in service usually in less than 2 hours . . . Keeping your telephone always ready to deliver fast, dependable service is a necessary and expensive part of Southern Bell's service to its customers.

A Store Without a Telephone?

Mississippi families can reach more stores, more shops, more services of every kind today, for so many of the approximately 131,000 new telephones we've installed in the state since 1945 are in business establishments.

12½ Million Dollars This Year for New Telephones in Mississippi

Keeping pace with Mississippi's demands for new telephones is a big job, but we've been making progress . . . In the past 7 years we have more than doubled the total number of telephones in the state . . . at a cost of approximately 72 million dollars . . . and we're still working hard at it.

What's a Telephone Worth?

Sometimes one call may be worth more than the cost of a year's telephone service . . . and service becomes more valuable as additional telephones are installed in your community.

"My" Doctor

Dr. J. K. Avent, Sr.

Every person has a physician that he calls "my doctor", a doctor in whom he has greatest confidence, a feeling that can not be compounded by a pharmacist, but a feeling that, oftentimes, is more curative than mixed medicines or pills.

Dr. Avent is "my" doctor and has been ever since the death of the late Dr. J. S. Sharp who, during his lifetime, was "my" doctor.

In many cases and, to be truthful, in mine, there is greater confidence in "my" doctor than between the man and his preacher or his priest.

Like other veterans, I have full opportunity to use the greater facilities of the VA, which I have used in medical matters, but, when the state is indicated, Dr. Avent has guided the knife on me.

Folks on whom a knife is to be used want to have complete confidence in the man using that knife. In Dr. Avent, I do have confidence.

I just want to add my dime's worth to this issue honoring Grenada Hospital, Dr. Avent and his staff members.

Co-Founder of Grenada Hospital

Dr. Francis S. Hill

While this issue is dedicated to the 30th anniversary of one of Grenada's finest institutions, Grenada Hospital and to Dr. J. K. Avent, Sr., owner and chief surgeon of that hospital, whose birthday is near by, we would feel recreant to our sense of the fitness of things if we did not say nice things about Dr. Frank Hill, co-founder with Dr. Avent in the establishment of the first hospital in Grenada, the one which occupied the old Broadstreet home on College Street.

I know that the writer has known Dr. Hill ever since both of us were very young men, a matter of, I would say, 45 years or more, when Dr. Hill came here to associate himself with the late Dr. J. W. Young, then needing a little ease after a lifetime of arduous service as a "country doctor."

I have always thought a heap of Dr. Hill, and still do. His boy, now dead, and my boys grew up together. Speaking from a medical standpoint, Dr. Hill has well-nigh "raised" our four children, as he has done thousands of other children of this community.

I just don't want this opportunity to escape without renewing to Dr. Hill our sincere best wishes.

"A Tribute"

the tenderness of his heart often dims his eyes with tears. No person is too poor, no one so humble no one so obscure as not to have access to his presence and sympathetic attention.

He knows no difference of race, color or creed but ministers to all as needed, true to the hippocratic oath embodying a code of ethics taken by recipients of the M. D. degree.

While active in the social, cultural and religious life of his adopted town his major activities are naturally centered on his hospital work.

Here pain is eased, here many find a renewal of life, here life begins and here some must needs relinquish their hold on life as we know it, when their stars go down to rise upon some other shore; but near their bedside is one to give comfort all the way.

Here we find a masterful mind of highest incentives - one whose firm and trained hand delicately wields the scalpel in many a tragic hour which means the difference between life and death.

Voltaire paid tribute to the medical profession when he wrote: "but nothing is more estimable than a physician who, having studied nature from his youth, knows the properties of the human body, the diseases which assail it, the remedies which will benefit it, exercises his art with caution and pays equal attention to the rich and poor."

Dr. Avent is frank, sincere, just and one into whose care a life can be entrusted implicitly. Today we salute him as one who has written his name in kindness, love and skill on the hearts of many. He will not be forgotten but his name shall long be treasured among the priceless riches of our memories. His name will be a tradition and an inspiration to ingenious youth.

May exquisite flowers of appreciation shed their incense upon him now in the prime of his life, may evenings soft twilight halo its shadows and contrive to bespeak the earnestness of his heart and the fullness of his life.

Blessings on this friend whose life has blessed others is the wish and prayer of many whose lives he has enriched.

Bob Price Writes About Bob Hall In Magazine

The GCW hopes to obtain permission to reprint the story in installments.

in Mississippi and had the research technique to solve the problems.

He commended the excellent work of Dr. Cannon of the physics and astronomy department as an example of how a learned and inspiring teacher can produce excellent students. Recently the first student in the history of State College received a master's degree in physics. To date, 30 of Dr. Cannon's students have received master's degrees in physics. Of these 9 have received doctor's degrees and 7 are working on their degrees. All but two are working in the physics field and these two are in the Navy using their knowledge of physics to a certain extent.

Dr. Cannon told a story about being responsible for the winning of World War II. One of his students was Gen. Eisenhower's meteorologist and advised him just when to make the Normandy landing in 1944.

He said that college professors are hired because they think otherwise and try to stimulate their students to think of themselves and evaluate facts which they study.

He said he was gravely concerned over the attitudes of complete conformity and conservatism manifest in the students of today. He said some way must be found to stimulate students into heated discussions so that they will get away from the fear of not being exactly like everyone else.

SHORT HISTORY OF GRENADA HOSPITAL

Grenada Hospital, like Grenada itself, has gone a "fur" piece in the 30 years since its establishment by Drs. J. K. Avent and F. S. Hill, in the former residence on College St. of the late Dr. J. P. Broadstreet (dentist). The GCW regrets that it was unable to locate a picture of the old site so that the contrast in size between the old and the new could be more clearly portrayed.

The hospital, as of now and as of recent years, is owned solely by Dr. Avent. He serves as chief surgeon and manager. Three trained doctors, his own son, Dr. J. K. Avent, Jr., Dr. W. E. Brown, and Dr. Gaines Cooke, devote all of their time to patients in the hospital. The hospital's facilities are available for use of the patients of the many other fine doctors in this community. Today, after periodic additions to the hospital there are 75 beds, 15 of which are for Negro patients - a far cry from the few bedrooms in the Broadstreet old home.

It is very informative to report that 90,000 persons have been in this hospital since its opening.

30,000 out-patients are annually treated by the doctors associated with this hospital. The hospital has complete X-ray equipment and laboratory equipment and personnel.

At present there are 30 student nurses, receiving accredited training under the supervision of Chief Nurse, Mrs. Edith Salguero, at whose hands over a hundred young ladies have been graduated.

Grenada Hospital is the only hospital in the county.

20th Century Club Hold Annual Luncheon and Program

Of outstanding social importance was the annual luncheon and program enjoyed by members of the Twentieth Century Club and their guests on Tuesday, April 21. This was the last meeting of the club year, 1952-53. The club will meet the first Tuesday in September for 1953-54 club year. Mrs. G. S. Kent is president, serving again next year as president, and she graciously presided at the luncheon and introduced the visitors and guests from the University of Miss. who were responsible for the very fine program, also the members guests.

The program committee consisted of Mesdames O. L. Kimbrough, H. J. Theil and Felix Syrohin. The ladies of the Methodist Church served the luncheon. Floral decorations at the luncheon carried out the club colors of yellow and green, with yellow gladioli and fern corsages attached to the place cards.

A four-course luncheon was served. Mrs. J. Marshall Frye said grace at the luncheon.

Mrs. Kent, in introducing the honor guest, Dr. C. M. Getchell, head of Speech Dept at Ole Miss, said "Dr. Getchell has graciously agreed to come and speak to us today and as I have learned so many wonderful things about him, I wish I had time to tell you all of them. Dr. Getchell is famous in the state and nation. In the 1952-53 edition of "Who's Who in America" Dr. Getchell is recorded as a native of Maine, a graduate of U. of Maine, and the U. of Wisconsin from which University he received his Ph. D. degree. He is a democrat and an Episcopalian. He contributed articles on Speech Education to the Southern Speech Journal, has worked with various theatre groups in the East, and since 1946 has been engaged in developing the Summer Theatre at the campus of Ole Miss. He served in the Navy air force during the War. He spoke to the group on "The American Theatre."

On program were three of his talented speech students, Miss Helen Salmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Salmon of Chicago and grand daughter of Mrs. E. L. Wilkins of Grenada, Miss Laura Lanford and Sam Hart.

They were introduced by Dr. Getchell. Miss Salmon played the leading part. The play brought out the marvelous and extraordinary talents of the young actors. They dramatically presented a one-act play, the theme of which was the need for psychiatry in the home. It was most cleverly presented and will be long remembered as one of the best plays Grenadians have been privileged to see.

MISS McNEIL ENTERTAINS KINDERGARTEN GRADUATES

Miss Mary Elizabeth McNeil complimented the pupils of Mrs. Doty's Kindergarten with a delightful party following their graduation Monday evening, April 27, 1953. Miss McNeil was graciously assisted by Miss Mae Caldwell, who greeted the children and their mothers at the door and shared with the charming hostess the courtesies of the evening.

The scene of the party was the Brownie Scout Hut which was attractively decorated for the occasion with roses, iris, shasta daisies and greenery. Of particular interest to the children was the clever arrangement on the puppet stage, which revealed sweet little girl graduates walking away, diplomas in hands, from a little red school house, which was flanked on one side by the American flag and by trees and flowers on the other.

Gracing the refreshment table was a beautiful imported lace cloth and a charming arrangement of pink roses and blue iris. Here, lovely Diana Dubard presided at the punch bowl as the guests were served pretty party plates holding punch attractively decorated cookies in the shape of the brownie scout emblem, ice cream, cake, marshmallows and after dinner mints. Mrs. Robert Benz very graciously assisted with the serving.

At the height of the party, the kindergarten girls, with Miss McNeil as spokesman, presented Mrs. Doty a handsome overnight bag as an expression of their love and esteem.

Graduates invited to this lovely party and sharing honors with their mothers and who will always remember Mary Elizabeth affectionately were: Linda Ashford, Wallace Ann Austin, Beverly Bates, Sally Boss Boone, Ione Calhoun, Beverly Davis, Josephine Dubard, Eleanor Gray, Linda Sue Honeycutt, Ginger Kimbrough, Jane Marascalon, Glinda Morgan, Patsy Mullin, Julie Oliver, Judy Ray, Sue Revell, Mabry Rice, Patricia Shuffield, Linda Simmons, Florrey Spall, Linda Weir, Wanda Wyatt.

Mesdames W. A. McCool, Sam Houston, James Jacks and C. K. Bailey, Jr. are attending a Junior Auxiliary Convention in Johnson City, Tenn. this week.

The aeronautical engineers say that a bumble bee cannot fly. They reason that his wing-spread, body shape and proportioned balance prevent him from being able to get off the ground - that is according to aeromechanics. Well, we know the bumble bee not only can fly to any place he decides to go but he can hover around a fragrant flower with all the ease of any helicopter you have ever seen. Well, the aerodynamic boys forget to look at the position of the earth as is shown by those large globes used in school rooms. We remember the axis is not perpendicular, nor is it horizontal and there is I suppose some scientific explanation - seem to remember hearing it in the old school days - but also it could be the Master Architect set the old earth in a tilting position for a very good purpose, one which we have discovered yet. Maybe... when the first man and woman violated God's command with such cruel disappointment, and were driven from the garden out into the outer world God set the old earth at about "half mast" as a sign of His disappointment by His original creation and expects to keep it that way until His Son comes back one day to straighten out a lot of things with all of us and then the old earth may again revolve around a PERFECT perpendicular axis. In the meantime there is no perfection on this earth. Whenever we see men with that superior air about them, the proud and pompous kind, we ought to feel a little sorry for them. We ought to feel sorry for the haughty and self-important because their assuming and assertive natures are in direct contradiction to the WAY which we were intended to be. So long as this old earth sets in a sloping position on its axis, no man is perfect nor can he produce anything that is perfect. The man doesn't live who can draw a perfect circle much less make one, or can tune a musical instrument to a perfect tone, or can paint a perfect sunset or the milkyway. There is always the "human element" and that spells imperfection. The Bible says a man cannot add one inch to his height or one minute to his life, and when we learn of these things how can we assume an air of superiority, arrogance, and predominance? Well, actually, we are very little imperfect and incompetent creatures trying to hold on to the old earth as it creates for us a sloping hillside as a reminder that we are to be humble in our realization that we've never accomplished a perfect thing in our lives. Sure we don't know why the awkward bumble bee can fly, and his doing so is not the only mystery yet uncovered by man. We have just experienced another Easter season and studied again the miracle of the Resurrection which is hard to understand, yet so certain a fact hardly anyone will dispute it. The disciples were worried about how they were going to remove the huge stone which sealed the sepulchre so they might prepare Jesus' body for further burial, but found a little angel had already rolled it away and sat upon it signifying that there should be no fear in our hearts when we come upon obstacles in life's pathway... provided of course we know in whom our protection lies. Ah, yes men have built some pretty fine things - planes, ships, bridges, trains, cathedrals but never a one of them were perfect and without flaw. The most proficient architect knows he cannot draw a straight line or a circle, so he uses instruments to aid him, not knowing perhaps the instrument itself is not perfectly straight or forms a perfect circle. The musician practices long and faithful to attain the perfect note yet since his own ears are not perfect how can he tell when he has the perfect sound - which of course he has never yet heard. Well, it all may be due to the tilt of the earth on its axis which puts mankind in its place - a humble place that is - and prevents him from ever attaining anything near perfection because there is only one who is perfect - Jesus, the plumb-line for our lives. Heard a story of a mother who was broken-hearted over the haughty and insolent son whom she had helped to pamper into an overbearing disposition, and she gave the boy a little silver cross to carry in his pocket and admonished him to hold the little cross in his hand tightly and think about the most humble man who ever lived when he found himself feeling self important and tempted to boast about some little thing he had accomplished.

Humility... in men and trees... Trees that grow very high to show their splendor give little shade or shelter. Trees that most lovingly shelter us... like the weeping willow... droop their boughs in humility toward the good earth whence they came.

Friday, May 1st Is Straw Hat Day

To note Straw Hat Day in Grenada on Friday, May 1, all men working in dry goods stores and all men employees of the banks and restaurants will wear straw hats all day.

Dealers in straw hats decided at a meeting last week to donate hats to bankers and cafemen who would wear them on Straw Hat Day.

Monroe Looney and B. W. Henderson were to paint signs on the uptown sidewalks reminding citizens of the day. They also placed placards in windows all over uptown. Straw Hat is traditionally the day when weather gets too hot for men to continue to wear their woolen hats.

See what they marked up as NEW Mrs. T. J. Tharpe, but I thought she had been getting the GCW all the time. The same notation, NEW, is by the name of C. E. Trussell, but I think he has been getting the GCW all along.
